SPECIAL EDUCATION SERVICE LOGS

Our App

Looking for a way to document service minutes for students? Tired of pen and paper documentation? Athlos understands it can be difficult to ensure all students are receiving the number of service minutes outlined in their Individualized Education Plans (IEP). Our app helps make this process easy!

Designed for use by special education teachers and service providers, our app records service minutes in alignment with IEP goals and provides real-time data dashboards to help track and share progress with key stakeholders.

We help make the required work of documenting services for students simpler, more efficient, and easier to communicate. Check out our app's key features and go digital with service logs today!

Data Highlights

Below are key data points you can track and visualize with the Athlos Service Logs App.

Track By Student
Track service minutes by student ensure progress toward IEP goals.

Track by Service Areas & Subject
Track service minutes for students by course subject and service areas.

Track By IEP Goal
Track service minutes per IEP goal for students receiving special education services. You can use this information to complete progress reports.

WHY Special Education Service Logs?

Special education teachers and service providers are required to track and document progress on IEP goals and objectives. They must also ensure they are providing the appropriate amount of service time that has been indicated in a student's IEP. We know this can be a difficult and time-consuming task for special education service providers. Athlos Special Education Service Logs simplify the tracking process with digital logs that store student information in a secure location.

Special Education Logs also document progress towards IEP goals and objectives. This information can be directly used to complete special education progress reports.
